MAGGIE MOORHOUSE – Regional Sales Manager, Central

Maggie Moorhouse joined Ridge Vineyards in 2025 as the Central Regional Sales Manager. She brings a strong background in distributor management, key account development, and consistent sales growth across competitive markets.

Prior to joining Ridge, Maggie spent time at Terlato as the Southern California Area Manager, where she successfully led sales efforts in one of the country's most dynamic regions. Before that, she spent five years at Regal Wine Company, where she was consistently recognized as a top-performing Wine Sales Representative.

Maggie recently completed the rigorous WSET Level 4 Diploma program and is a Certified Sommelier through the Court of Master Sommeliers—credentials that reflect her deep commitment to wine education and professional development.

Maggie will be relocating from San Diego to Denver for this position. She's extremely excited to experience seasons again—and to be closer to both her sister and the ski slopes! In her free time, Maggie enjoys making new friends and exploring unfamiliar places, often with a glass of wine in hand. She's thrilled to bring her passion and experience to the Ridge team.
