2024 Estate Chardonnay (Santa Cruz Mountains)

Source: High winds during flowering reduced yields by twenty percent. In late August a week of warm weather pushed ripeness forward. All seven small blocks were harvested the first week of September in just three days. Well defined, with ripe fruit and citrus notes typical of Monte Bello, this mountain-grown Chardonnay will develop fully over six years. JO (11/25)

2023 Estate Cabernet Sauvignon (Santa Cruz Mountains)

Source: Heavy winter rains ended our three-year drought. Due to an unusually cool growing season, harvest was late; beginning in October and not finishing until mid-November. We extended fermentations to better extract full color while balancing the tannins and firm acidity. In tasting, we selected the most approachable lots from the Monte Bello vineyard for the Estate. This appealing vintage will be at its best over the next fifteen years. JO (4/25)

2024 Geyserville Vineyard (Alexander Valley)

Source: A rainy winter, mild spring, and warm summer advanced ripening. Harvest began early on August 30th and finished by September 14th. After malolactic, individual lots were selected, assembled, and racked to American oak for thirteen months. This wine shows the unique expression of soil and microclimate coupled with the complexity of a field blend. Delicious. JO (12/25)

2025 Heringer Chenin Blanc (Clarksburg)

Source: Clarksburg has come to be recognized as a remarkable location to grow chenin blanc in California. Warm days are cooled by an afternoon breeze from the southwest, carrying brisk air from the Pacific Ocean. Summer temperatures allowed the grapes full maturity at lower levels while preserving firm acidity. Brief skin contact before fermentation enhanced aromatic complexity. Enjoyable now, it will develop further over the next four years. SR (11/25)
